Sean White

Sean White, Principal, is a senior consultant in Mercer's Boise office. He provides ongoing health and welfare benefits consulting as well as leads and participates on strategic client assignments.

Sean has more than sixteen years of experience in the design, pricing and administration of health and welfare programs. His focus is on multi-year benefits and wellness strategy, financial analysis and consulting. This includes self-insured plan cost projections, trend analysis, plan performance, contribution strategy and design, plan design review, benchmarking and redesign, and IBNR development.

Sean is also a member of Mercer's Total Health Management Design specialty group and has worked with a number of clients on the development and design of total health management programs.

Sean also participates on the Mercer Actuarial and Financial national sub-committee responsible for the development of Mercer's bi-annual internal trend guidelines.

Sean has a bachelor's degree in mathematics from the University of Washington and a Master's in Business Administration from Seattle University.
