

Mark Chambers, DDS
Willamette Dental Group

Dr. Chambers is one of eight dentists in his family, making dentistry a frequent topic at family dinners. As an advocate for evidence-based dentistry, he values Willamette Dental Group's core philosophy. Dr. Chambers is a member of the National Dental Practice Based Research Network, a research collaborative in evidence dentistry, and has presented on the subject at multiple conferences. He's also a Boy Scouts of America volunteer, a scoutmaster, and a counselor for the Dentistry merit badge. He's proud to hold the Jack Nicholls Clinical Research and Frank Burns Guthrie Awards for clinical and patient care excellence.

Dr. Chambers balances work with days out fly fishing, gardening, or hiking with his wife and children.

Heather Brown, Oral Improvement Manager
Delta Dental of Idaho

Heather Brown, a recent transplant to the area, is the Oral Health Improvement Manager for Delta Dental of Idaho. Prior to her move, Heather worked for PreViser Corporation and Northeast Delta Dental as their Manager of Oral Health and Wellness Solutions. With more than 17 years of clinical dental hygiene experience, Heather served her community as Project Manager for the Healthy New Hampshire Foundation in Concord, NH in which she ensured that children and pregnant mothers enrolled in Woman, Infants and Children (WIC) received oral health care and education necessary to be as healthy as possible. Heather loves sharing her passion about oral health and the relationship that oral health plays in an individual's well-being to anyone that will listen. Heather was able to share her message with students at Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences University, Forsyth School of Dental Hygiene in Boston, Mass where she served as Adjunct Clinical Dental Hygiene Faculty for the last seven years. Heather is excited to be in Idaho and looks forward to being part of the solution when it comes to improving the oral health of all Idahoans.

Angie Bailey, Program Manager for the Idaho Oral Health Program
Idaho Department of Health and Welfare (Division of Public Health)

Angie Bailey is the Program Manager for the Idaho Oral Health Program, Division of Public Health, Idaho Department of Health and Welfare. She graduated in May 2015 with a Master of Science in Dental Hygiene and an emphasis in Community Health. Angie is extremely passionate about the prevention of oral diseases, medical-dental collaboration, and educating others on the connections between oral health and total health. In addition, she strives to educate and help others understand the effects poor oral health has on society and our local communities. Angie is actively involved in all aspects of dental public health and currently serves as the chair of the Idaho Oral Health Alliance. She also serves on various committees including the DentaQuest Foundation National Oral Health Connection Team, the Association of State & Territorial Dental Director's Best-Practice Committee, the Healthy Me is Cavity Free Collaborative, and others. Angie believes that in order to achieve oral health equity in Idaho everyone must work together utilizing a collective impact framework, leverage resources, and work to build relationships with one another.

Jennifer Wheeler, Owner & President
WRG Corporate Services, LLC

After 22 years in alumni relations/higher education and nonprofit service, Jennifer Wheeler now wears two new hats. As owner and president of WRG Corporate Services, LLC, she provides high level assistance to corporations and nonprofits looking to streamline operations. She also offers assistance in documentation creation for companies preparing to apply for B Corp certification. As the half-time executive director and only employee of the Idaho Oral Health Alliance, she provides organizational support to the statewide board of directors and oversees all operations including a statewide membership program.

In October 2015, Jennifer was appointed by Governor Otter to the Idaho Healthcare Coalition (IHC) that oversees the Statewide Healthcare Innovation Plan (SHIP). She is the only official oral health representative.

She received both her marketing and public relations degrees from Idaho State University.
